SOURCE EVALUATIONS ARE DEFINITIVE. APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TENTATIVE.

1. The Polish Ministry of National Defense, in concert with the Ministry of Health, was reported in mid-May 1955 to be calling up on an individual basis a number of young doctors for service in the Army and Navy. Only married men with children are being drafted for service in the Navy or for shore duty in coastal areas. The doctors are given one month's leave upon conscription, free quarters, and compensation for the moving of household effects. Their wives, if they so desire, are given jobs at their new locations. 25X1

2. It was reported in mid-May that a large repair plant with facilities for handling 3,000 motor vehicles at one time had been set up in the Sabieniec district of Lodz (N 51-45, E 19-28).

3. It was also reported in mid-May that a large motor vehicle depot was under construction at Ozimy Lowicz.[1] It was being built with pre-fabricated parts which were brought to the construction site and erected on the spot.

4. In May 1955 nine classes of conscripts (from 1929 through 1937) were called up for service.[2] Many of these were to engage in maneuvers scheduled to begin on 1 June 1955. Technicians previously deferred from military service were among those called up.
